SURVIVORS' ART EXHIBITION

Women from Cambridge's Rape Crisis Centre, Women's Aid and Women's Resources Centre celebrate courage, strength and creativity.
Lord Ashcroft Building, Anglia Ruskin University, Cambridge

SOUTHBANK CENTRE, LONDON AND UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE PRESENT WOW – WOMEN OF THE WORLD – CAMBRIDGE ARTISTIC DIRECTORS JUDE KELLY, SIGRID FISHER AND NICOLA BUCKLEY

I founded WOW five years ago because there is not one country in the world where women have full equality and in most countries injustices are commonplace. WOW puts the spotlight on the incredible things women do, but also talks about the obstacles they face. It is a space where everyone can debate ideas and hear from people who are making change happen. It is an opportunity for men and women, boys and girls, to get together to discuss the big issues as well as have fun, share feelings and expand horizons. WOW is growing very fast, UK and worldwide – I'm thrilled to see it taking place in Cambridge.

Jude Kelly CBE
Artistic Director, Southbank Centre and founder of WOW

Cambridge is proud to be hosting WOW for International Women's Day. WOW festivals, now taking place all over the globe, encourage open sharing of ideas and diverse perspectives on matters affecting women and girls today. Our programme will look at a wide range of issues: from fashion to social media, sport and suffragettes, science and global education. There will be experts and high profile speakers, local voices and, importantly, views from all ages and backgrounds. It will be an inspiring, stimulating and thoughtful day. We hope to see you there.

THE WOW WELCOME #MAKE IT HAPPEN

10.15AM-11.30AM, J2 THEATRE

The theme for International Women's Day 2015 is Make It Happen – so start your WOW day with stories from inspirational women who did just that. Zoah Hedges-Stocks and Srishti Krishnamoorthy will be in conversation with British author, freelance radio/tv broadcaster and 'networking queen' Carole Stone, and economist Vicky Pryce. The session will conclude with a special keynote speech from successful businesswoman and philanthropist Dame 'Steve' Shirley.

Carole Stone

Speed
Mentoring,
WOW
Cambridge,
October
2014

SPEED MENTORING

11.30AM – 12.45PM, J3

Women mentees, sign up to talk to mentors, professors, entrepreneurs ... who knows, you might get Vicky Pryce or Carole Stone! You'll have four conversations in an hour to get advice and ask questions of women from all walks of life.

IS FEMINISM IN FASHION?

12NOON – 1PM, J2 THEATRE

Beyoncé is one, Taylor Swift is one; Grazia, Cosmopolitan, Glamour and Elle magazines are all on board ... after decades of negativity, it's cool to be a feminist again. Come and hear why times have changed, with activist and designer Katharine Hamnett, co-founder of All Walks Beyond The Catwalk Debra Bourne, author of Brand Famous Linzi Boyd and Ilona Kelly, author of ethical report Tailored Wages.

Katharine Hamnett,
Fashion Designer

SPEED NETWORKING

1PM-1.30PM MEZZANINE, J2

Learn the skills of fast and effective networking. With only three minutes for each turn, how much can you learn about who you meet, what you have in common and if you can help each other out? Join this lively session to find out.

WONDERWOMEN: DISCOVERERS AND PIONEERS

1.30PM – 2.30PM, J1 GIG SPACE

Any idea what a difference women have made to the world? Challenging why female scientists have been denied their place in history are Professor Monica Grady of the Rosetta project, Deborah Jaffé, author of Ingenious Women, Aurelia Hibbert from Cambridge University's Eco-Racing team and Dr Jenny Tillotson, Reader in Sensory Fashion at Central St Martin's. Hosted by Professor Tim Bussey from Science Grrl's 'She blinded me with science' campaign.

THE EDUCATION EMERGENCY

1.30PM – 3PM, J2 THEATRE
& LIVE-SCREENED WITH
SOUTHBANK CENTRE, LONDON

What difference does education make to lives worldwide; what is the impact on women and girls of education being unavailable, inaccessible or actively denied? Joint panels from Cambridge and London will discuss these fundamental questions and argue for the right to safe and quality education for all around the globe. Join in the demand for change and sign the #upforschool petition. Speakers include Professor of International Education Pauline Rose, Malala's former teacher Mariam Khaliq, Zoah Hedges-Stocks from the Showman Traveller community, plus Lucy Lake with special guest Fatima Yakubu from Camfed. The Cambridge panel will be chaired by Dame Barbara Stocking, previously head of Oxfam, and there will be a live link to a panel in London with education activist Baela Raza Jamil from Pakistan.

ENOUGH! ENDING VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN

1.30PM – 2.30PM, J3

Gender-based violence in its many forms seems to have become an almost accepted backdrop to society. This session will challenge this 'normalisation', and put the case that to live in a world where women are not attacked or hurt in their daily lives – physically, sexually or virtually – is possible. Chaired by feminist philosopher Professor Rae Langton, the panel includes Karen Ingala Smith of Counting Dead Women, Principal of Newnham College Dame Carol Black, Chris Green of the White Ribbon Campaign, Norah Al Ani from Cambridge Rape Crisis Centre and from WOW Derry, domestic abuse survivor Terri-Louise Graham. CUSU Women's Officer Amelia Horgan will report from the Cambridge Speaks Out campaign.

Susie Orbach

WOMEN'S BODIES, PRIVATE PLACES

3PM – 4PM, J1 GIG SPACE

Women's bodies, who do they belong to? A wide-ranging, multi-generational and diverse panel will explore issues around life as a woman. From boobs and body hair to body image and periods, how have attitudes changed and who decides what's 'right'? In conversation will be Dr Clare Chambers, author of 'Fat is a Feminist Issue' Susie Orbach, Roz Hardie, CEO of campaign group Object, Debra Bourne from All Walks Beyond the Catwalk, poet, singer, writer and actor Keisha Thompson, Alice Wroe from the Herstory project, trans woman Dr Rachael Padman and Becky Talbot from Diverse.

MEN AND FEMINISM

3PM – 4PM, J3

Do men have a place in the fight for gender equality? Pro-Vice-Chancellor Professor Jeremy Sanders CBE leads a discussion with a different gender balance. Writer and broadcaster Simon Fanshawe OBE, founder of Good Lad Workshops David Llewellyn, Nick Mason from Hills Road College Feminist Society and author of Feminism and Men Nikki Van Der Gaag discuss whether men can be feminists and allies in the battle for gender equality.

Amy Hughes

WOMEN RUN THE WORLD!

4.30PM – 5.30PM, J1 GIG SPACE

Undoubtedly overlooked and sometimes ridiculed in the world of mainstream sports – as participants, commentators or decision-makers – women continue their remarkable feats of performance around the world. Let's hear it for the game-changers who are carrying on regardless and those on the side-lines loudly applauding their successes. With Jo Bostock from Women's Sports Trust, 53-times marathon runner (in 53 days!) the remarkable Amy Hughes, Michelle Moore, activist for equality in sport, and with a local focus, Siobhan Cassidy representing the University's Women's Boat Club, Debbie Kaye from the City Council and David Baker, Chair of Cambridge Women's Football Club. There will also be a reading from new play 'Offside' by Futures theatre company and a showing of This Girl Can.

Natasha Walter

MAKING WAVES: WITH NATASHA WALTER

4PM – 5.30PM, J2 THEATRE

Over the last few years there has been a genuine rise in feminist activism and debate, from No More Page 3 to the campaigns against FGM and the detention of refugee women. Join our speakers from some of the key areas of protest to find out how to get the word out and create change in today's world, from online campaigning to street protests. Chaired by Professor Andrew Webber, joining Natasha for this timely discussion will be Lucy-Anne Holmes from NMP3, Sudanese refugee Rehab Jameel and an FGM activist.

UNTOLD WOMEN'S STORIES

4.30PM – 5.30PM J3

Uncovering missing voices from history: WW1 heroines and 'she-soldiers', lesbians in the Suffragette movement, Black and Trans women – these hidden women's contributions will be celebrated by Professor Alison Fell, Anna Kisby Compton, Nydia Swaby and Sarah Brown. Chaired by Sue Ifould of Cambridge's Freudian Slips, never forgetting our local women.

SUNDAY 8 MARCH DAY EVENTS

THE WOW ROUND UP!

5.30PM – 6PM FOYER J2

WOW what a day! Come and share how it's been for you, with your ideas for next year's WOW. Reflections from Professor Dame Athene Donald, Mayor Gerri Bird, male allies and our WOWsers team.

DANCE LIKE BEYONCÉ WITH A DOLLOP OF SASS!

6PM – 7PM, J1 GIG SPACE

London's Seen on Screen invite you to a Beyoncé dance class to learn the moves to 'Run the World (Girls)'. There'll be loud music, smoke machines and much laughter. A good all-rounder: fun, fitness, feminism and fierceness! No trainers or sportswear needed, absolute beginners are strongly encouraged – all welcome.

RECLAIM THAT SPACE! WOMEN AS DRAG KINGS

6PM – 7PM, J3

Ever sat on the bus squashed into a corner by someone with legs akimbo ignoring your right to space? Women, reclaim some of that space – be a man! Drag Kings are celebrations, parodies, embellishments, and embodiments of men and boys. Fascinating interactive workshop with Cambridge University's very own drag king, Lenna Cumberbatch-Nichols.

Bring along your 'male' wear such as ties, caps, braces and shirts!

THE WOW BANNER: CATALYTIC POETRY AT CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION

WOW Cambridge for International Women's Day 2015 has commissioned a poem by local spoken word poet HOLLIE McNISH, to celebrate all that's good about being a girl. Hollie's poem RASPBERRIES will be displayed at Cambridge Junction from March.

It is being produced as a catalytic banner, printed on a treated material that purifies the air around it and reduces pollution. This project is inspired by the world's first catalytic poem developed by Professor Tony Ryan, Pro-Vice-Chancellor for the Faculty of Science at the University of Sheffield. It is supported by the University of Cambridge, Cambridge Science Festival, Murray Edwards College and Newnham College.

RASPBERRIES BY HOLLIE MCNISH

He pretends that she's fine when she climbs the trees in the park
as the determined grip of her size ten, four-year-old feet get higher
He laughs and smiles back at her, floating between 'man' and 'father' egging her on that she can: Go on! Go up!

But I see his dad-hands, always clutched held like a huge padded palm beneath her in case she slips
His breaths digging deeper with each branch her feet rest on
Carefully testing how strong each is before she steps on with tiny, tree-trunk legs
Be careful, that one's dead, he yells again. The dead branches are the worst Hollow stepping stones, rotten

In the forest, in the park, work is forgotten. Air fresh. Wallets left unopened
Kids' sticks stirring hot chocolate mud
Last month, she reached the next branch up and laughed so proudly her face beamed sun glows

Wow! You should've been a boy! a passer-by joked. Twice
My daughter stopped. Rolled her eyes. Frowned
And as that woman walked away, she fired an earthquake-worthy raspberry at the ground
Tongue out, testing for more rotten branches as she climbed down
